Liu Chien-Kuang
Solo Show, Ethereal Geology

In Ethereal Geology, Taiwanese artist Liu Chien-Kuang uses hand-blown glass to explore mineral textures, and the sedimentation of time. Drawing on museum research and kiln experimentation, his glass artworks blend layered colours with memories of the stone: Taiwan jade. Recollections of protective jade jewellery from his childhood evoke memories of maternal affection and the cultural significance of good fortune. His nomadic journey across islands — from Taiwan and Denmark to the Stockholm archipelago — imbues his work with geopolitical and cultural depth.
